

STORIES: YES!

Tools that work.

Check out a list of free tools and software that can help students create amazing digital products.

Audio + Video

AdobeSpark for Video: Click-and-drag videos with available stock music

ShotCut for Video: More custom and robust editing capability

Audacity for Sound: Just-for-sound software for cutting, editing, and noise reduction

Mobile Tours

izi.Travel: Build a custom, editable location-aware walking tour with text, audio, and video

PocketSights: Create a custom, editable location-aware tour with text, audio, and video

TipTour: Create a custom, editable location-aware tour with text, audio, video, and the ability to tip the content creator

Website Builders

Wix: Click-and-drag website builder with social feeds, video embeds, and more

SquareSpace: Click-and-drag website builder with social feeds, video embeds, and more ($12 per month)

Other

Where to Publish

YouTube: No better place for Video. Tag and describe your video to be searchable

SoundCloud: Create podcast-like playlists. Perfect for oral histories

Internet Archive: Preserve your recordings for others to use

Social Media: Facebook has a smart and easy video embed

FlipGrid: Pose video questions, host dialogue, and enable students to collaborate

StoryMap: From Knightlab.com combine a map function with a timeline

HstoryPin: Create a collection or tour of objects, using text, video and photographs

Smithsonian Learning Lab: Use Smithsonian objects, videos, etc. to create a collection