

You're Not Alone in a Small Michigan Town Alpena, Michigan

Story Narrative:

"I'm originally from a larger town around Detroit, but I moved for work into these smaller towns in North Dakota, and now Alpena, Michigan, and what I find best about small towns is how whenever you need something, no one hesitates to stop and help you out. There's this sense of security in a smaller town, that you're not alone, but you can be alone.

You can get away from things if you want. I love living in a smaller town.

There's a lot of history, and I like to make some of my own roots and history here in Alpena. Thank you!"

Asset ID #7002

Smithsonian Institution
Museum on Main Street